

COOLIDGE LAUDS PARTY'S RECORD IN SPEECH ACCEPTING STANDARD

GERMAN REPLY PAVES WAY FOR ACCEPTANCE

French Proposals May Be Adopted

Germany May Offer Con- cessions

Washington, Aug. 15.—Having formally taken up the standard of his party and charted the course of the coming campaign, President Coolidge prepared today to leave Washington for the Vermont hills, where for two weeks he will enjoy a complete rest, preparatory to engaging in one of the hardest fights for the presidency in history.

Shortly after noon the president, accompanied only by Mrs. Coolidge, their son John and C. Bascom Slemp, their son-in-law, will entrain for Plymouth, Vt. home of his father and scene of his birth.

All cares of office have been laid aside for the vacation period; absolute retirement is contemplated. The president is leaving Washington with his campaign fully outlined; his issues clearly asserted. At the notification ceremonies last night when he formally accepted the Republican nomination for the presidency, Mr. Coolidge laid down in precise language his claims for continuance in his office and his promises to the nation if elected.

As indicated in past utterances the president will conduct his fight for reelection upon the basic issues of governmental economy and tax reduction.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Formally notified of his nomination by the Republican party for president of the United States, President Calvin Coolidge responded with his speech of acceptance, in which he reviewed what he holds as the issues of the hour.

The notification ceremonies were held last night in Memorial Continental hall, scene of the Washington disarmament conference. Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee opened the meeting, introducing former Representative Mondell of Wyoming, who was permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention.

Mondell, acting as chairman of the notification committee, composed of a representative from each of the states and territories, made a brief speech informing the president of the convention's action. Coolidge then delivered his speech of acceptance.

The president declared he favored a permanent world court and further limitation of armaments, the national child labor amendment, just taxation and economy. He pointed out the achievements of the Republican administration since it resumed the reins in 1921. He declared that treaties of world-wide importance have been ratified with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Colombia and Mexico, that 42 other treaties have met with the approval of the senate, while six still await action. Friendly intercourse with Greece and Turkey has been resumed. Peace and American rights have been assured in the far east and the Pacific.

Turning to finance, the president called attention to the enactment of the budget system, and the resultant savings of the plan. The public debt now stands at about $21,500,000,000, he said, which is a reduction in three years of about $2,750,000,000 and means an annual saving in interest of more than $120,000,000. The $7,000,000,000 of short-time obligations have all been quietly refunded or paid, he declared, and added: "The internal revenue taxes have been reduced twice, and many of them repealed, so that during the present fiscal year the tax receipts show a saving to the people of approximately $6,000,000 a year compared with 1921. One government bond has sold well over 105%."

President Coolidge pointed out that more than 40 per cent of the debt due from foreign nations has been liquidated, providing funds for liquidating about $13,000,000,000 of the national debt during a 52-year term. "The finances of this nation have been managed with a genius and a success unmatched since the days of Hamilton," Mr. Coolidge declared.

Referring to the care of disabled veterans, the president said that more than 71,000 have been rehabilitated, 38,000 of whom are earning more than they did before the war. Compensation is being paid at the rate of about $100,000,000 a year, soon to be increased by $30,000,000 more; $40,000,000 have been provided for hospital facilities, which are open to veterans of all American wars.

The Tariff.

Dealing with the tariff Mr. Coolidge said: "By means of a protective tariff we have saved American agriculture, labor and industry from the menace of having their great home market destroyed through the dumping upon it of a flood of foreign products. Under this wise policy we saw an economic revival, and our people as a whole have come into an era of prosperity and plenty. As a source of revenue the tariff surpassed all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $550,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury, while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity, defends itself against any criticism."

The president declared he favored the system of private American enterprise and was opposed to the extension of government ownership and control; that he believed in economy in public expenditures and the practical application of the theory; that he believed in tax reduction and tax reform; that he favored protection.

Favoring the permanent court, he said: "I shall avoid involving ourselves in the political controversies of Europe, but I shall do what I can to encourage American citizens and resources to assist in restoring Europe, with the sympathetic support of our government. I want agriculture and industry on a sound basis of prosperity and equality. I shall continue to strive for the economic, moral and spiritual welfare of my country. American citizens will decide in the coming election whether these principles shall have their approval and support."

He reaffirmed his opposition to entrance into the league of nations, and referred to the part America has played in the rehabilitation of Europe.

ALIENISTS FOR STATE SHARPLY HIT BY DARROW

Testimony Attacked and Clash Follows

State Witnesses Are Quizzed Severely

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Evidence given by Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, state alienist, was sharply attacked by the defense at the hearing of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb.

Benjamin Bachrach, defense attorney, sought to show that Dr. Patrick had but little opportunity to examine Leopold and Loeb after their arrest for the murder of Robert Franks and that his examination was superficial and therefore inconclusive.

Dr. Patrick has struck many blows at the defense medical case, dismissing the entire structure with the statement that there was nothing abnormal about either of the boys.

Attorney Bachrach brought out that the doctor's conversation with the boys lasted approximately a half hour. "When you talked with Leopold did you consider that as part of your examination?" Bachrach asked.

"I suppose I did," Dr. Patrick answered. "I don't exactly recall but I presume that I made a mental note of all that was said for the purpose of using it in that manner. I might not have considered it in the light of a study at that time, but at least it was a sort of preliminary to my actual examination."

Bachrach then sought to show that the surroundings in the state's attorney's office, where the conversations were held, were not adaptable to a comprehensive study of the boys. "Do you consider those surroundings were adaptable for a mental examination?" Bachrach asked.

"Oh, well, I consider that they were adaptable to bringing out certain qualities, such as the mental attitude, the ability to hold conversation, the working of the mind, the intelligence, the use of language and the memory," the doctor replied.

Darrow in Clash.

Dr. Archibald Church, state alienist, also was cross-examined by the defense. Attorney Darrow quizzed Dr. Church as to the guise under which he had approached the youths. "Now isn't it a fact that you went to them only for the sake of getting evidence on which they could be hanged?" Darrow shot at the witness.

Dr. Church had asserted he had been introduced by the youths as a doctor and that the purpose of his visit was explained to them. "You know that isn't true, Darrow," he said heatedly, shaking his finger at the defense attorney. "Crowe was on his feet shouting for the doctor to continue his reply, while at the same time Darrow uttered an apology and requested the question be stricken from the record as 'an inadvertence.'"

Under careful cross-examination by the veteran Darrow, Dr. Church admitted that the present ages of Loeb and Leopold are within the "trying period of a young man's life" and that no doctor nor teacher could examine youths at their age without taking that into consideration.

The state alienist further agreed with the presentation of the defense alienists' claims of mental sickness in the youths by an admission that if Loeb's phantasy of being a detective had lasted from childhood into young manhood, it would be "abnormal," it being another part of the defense's plea that childish phantasies continuing as evil influences affected their years after adolescence.

Only One Arm, but He's Steeplejack.

Blood poisoning made it necessary for Henry Wernsing, steeplejack of Baltimore, Md., to have his left arm amputated, but he wouldn't think of changing his job. Using the one good arm left he crawls to perilous heights, using strong jaws and teeth to help him along.

SERIOUS CHARGES ARE HEARD AGAINST DAYTON HOME HEADS

Officials Deny Stories of Veterans.

Dayton, O., Aug. 15.—Hearing of witnesses in the investigation of conditions at the national military home here was resumed by Congressmen Roy G. Fitzgerald and Alfred Bulwinkle.

Witnesses testified that sane patients in the general hospital of the home were confined in insane wards. Thomas W. Garvin, world war veteran, made the charge, and said that he himself had been confined in an insane ward eight days. Garvin said another veteran, William Doty, 90, was brutally treated by a nurse, Hattie E. Davis, and choked and beaten.

Garvin's charges were flatly denied by Dr. J. F. Heath, who was in charge of Ward 15, the one in which Garvin and Doty were confined. Dr. Heath said that Garvin was a venereal addict and "mentally incompetent."

Another feature of the testimony was the questioning of Harvey Sutton, hospital steward, accused of selling jobs. The congressmen said they had a complaint signed by 11 inmates in which Sutton was accused of taking bribes to give positions to men as hospital attendants. They also accused Sutton of borrowing money from ex-soldiers and then keeping it. Sutton denied the accusations.

Garvin testified that he was forced to indorse a money order sent to him by his brother and that Dr. Heath kept the money. The doctor declared the charge was false. He said the money was credited to Garvin's account.

NAT REISS SHOWS TO APPEAR HERE AS EAGLES' BENEFIT

The Nat Reiss Shows, an aggregation of special attractions, will play here the week of August 25 to 30, at the Reserve Ball Park, Cincinnati Avenue, under the auspices of Xenia Aerie, No. 1689, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

The shows are being brought here for the benefit of the newly organized Eagles' Athletic Association, and the money derived from the week will be placed in the fund with which Eagles are financing a gymnasium for the public at the Aerie, Main and Whiteman Streets.

Much of the equipment for the new gymnasium has already been placed in position and an enthusiastic reception has been given the gymnasium idea by other organizations, including the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club, which has applied for a place on the schedule by which the gymnasium will be opened to the public.

Eagles say they have obtained the services of the cleanest aggregation of shows on the road, in booking the Nat Reiss company here, and M. J. Donahue, advance agent, is giving assurance that the company has a high moral tone, is free from grafting concessions, and that the company is making its appeal on a much higher plane than many carnival companies.

The shows travel in a special train of twenty-three cars and include twelve high-class attractions with 250 employees. The company will arrive in Xenia Sunday, August 24, and arrangements may be made to give a sacred concert before the evening church service Sunday evening, the company carrying a special concert band which has popularized the Sunday sacred concerts in other cities.

Eagles have designated each night as a visitors' night from another city, and will entertain pupils of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home and wards of the County Children's Home Wednesday. The state institution will bring its cadet band for the affair.

The Reiss Shows are now in their twenty-sixth consecutive year on the road, and claim their popularity of long standing, is based on a rigid rule to show the best and cleanest attractions obtainable and in eliminating vice and grafting from the show grounds.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture
BERNARR MACFADDEN

When the time comes that baby, drowsing and sprawling, attempts to toddle across the room on a couple of very uncertain legs, his mother must exercise great caution lest the efforts of the child work him irreparable harm. Do not, as you wish for beautiful, straight, well-developed limbs, try to hurry or urge a baby to stand or to walk before he is fully prepared by Nature with the means to the end in question.

Remember that his bones are as yet soft and yielding, and if he be allowed too soon to put the weight of his body upon them, just so surely will they yield to that weight, and become hoop-like, or "bowed" instead of straight and perfect members, as Nature intended them to be.

So will baby carry through life a deformity which will surely be a constant rebuke to his mother on the score of either her neglect or her vanity, the one equalling the other in its disastrous consequences. She may have failed to check his locomotive precocity, or, through motherly false pride have encouraged him to walk at too early an age. I beg of you not to rob your child thus of his right to comeliness, and so cast a shadow over his maturity. In later years no reproach may ever fall from his lips, but do not doubt that, although, his love for you may prompt him to suffer in silence the sting of misshaping will rankle in his soul throughout life.

Exercise his little legs regularly and perseveringly, but never permit him to bear his full weight upon them all at once. Let the pressure upon them be very gradual, and allow weeks or months to pass before he really walks unaided.

In any event, let the attempt to stand be made on the volition of the baby, and not as the result of a suggestion from the mother.

When the wee man tries to lift himself up by the bedpost, the chair, the wall, or mother's knee, let him emulate the example of Robert Bruce and the spider, and through constant effort he will succeed at last. His incidental tumbles will not hurt him a bit, for his little bones are soft and his muscles elastic, so that he practically rebounds unharmed from whatever he lands on.

Do you keep pace with the nation?

If you do you can answer these questions to your satisfaction.

The nation's wealth is $320,863,862,000. That sounds like a lot of money, as indeed it is, for it is $2,810 per capita. It is an increase of practically 50 per cent in the last ten years. Now that Uncle Sam has taken his inventory, suppose you take yours.

How much more money have you today than you had ten years ago?

More than half the nation's wealth is in real property. What proportion is yours?

If you do not follow the nation's proportion, why don't you make a change?

Is your way more profitable for you?

What do you estimate your assets will be ten years hence?

What plans are you making to carry out your expectations?

You can read your financial fortune in your answer to those questions.

"Before taking Tanlac, meal time had little attraction for me and I was troubled with stomach disorders. But when the calls to meals comes now I am eager to go, for I have an un-failing appetite and perfect digestion. In fact, Tanlac has put me in top-notch fettle and I think it great."

"MY Rheumatism is all gone. I feel a wonderful glory again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I can thank S.S.S. for it all! Do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. S.S.S. is waiting to help you. THE RIGHT KIND OF TALK

W. G. Lee, Grand President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, declares that national organization did not join the American Federation of Labor in endorsing the presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette and almost certainly will not to do. Mr. Lee, at Portsmouth, Va., to attend the booster meeting of Virginia trainmen, said: "The brotherhood will adhere to its settled policy of leaving its members free and untrammelled to vote their individual preferences. I purpose to place before the membership the records of the three candidates, the records of their parties and the platforms on which they are running, so that members of the brotherhood will have all the essential facts necessary to make a choice of the candidates. No word of mine will be in any way persuasive as to choice. The brotherhood is composed of men of fine intelligence. I would not presume—I would be ashamed to indicate a voting policy—for that would indicate that I have less faith in their intelligence than I have. Labor leaders who attempt to make congressmen and others believe they carry the vote of the membership in their vest pockets are only kidding themselves and I have been surprised at the number of public servants and others who seem to believe that labor's vote can be traded to about the same extent as any article of merchandise. The membership of the brotherhood—approximately 180,000 at this time—is sufficiently intelligent to determine how and when to vote, and I have never deceived myself into the belief that such membership, through my influence, could be delivered to any political party at will."

A HERO CONGRESSMAN, AFTER SEVEN YEARS IN BED

The Christian Herald, August 16th, has a strikingly interesting article by W. G. Shepherd, accompanied by a picture of Congressman W. D. Upshaw, of Atlanta, Ga., on his crutches. We quote from the article as follows:

Perhaps my readers have forgotten the name of the Congressman who, about a year ago, on the floor of the House of Representatives, stirred the entire United States by attacking Government officials who violate the Prohibition Law. It was Upshaw, standing on his crutches.

Round after round of applause came from Congressmen and from the galleries, as he said, "Let the Governors of our States, led by the President and the Vice-President of the United States and all the members of the Cabinet walk out into the open and lift up their hands before high heaven and take a new oath of allegiance to the whole Constitution and the American flag—that regardless of what their tastes and their practices have been they will never again build up a bootlegger's trade by drinking any form or amount of illicit liquor at any dinners or any functions or in any 'ballroom or back alley'."

"Let every member of Congress and every United States Senator follow suit; let every State and Federal Judge and every prosecuting attorney in America stand up like patriotic men and declare that they will never again personally trample the Constitution which they have sworn to obey and defend. No longer must these 'higher-ups' in Government say 'Go,' at the end of an official lash. They must say 'Come,' in all the glory of consistent leadership."

It was Upshaw's Prohibition fight in Georgia that got him into politics. That was in 1918 when the Prohibition fight was incredibly hot in the South.

The following is "Who's Who's" short sketch of Mr. Upshaw: Upshaw, William David, congressman; born, Newman, Ga., Oct. 15, 1866; son of Isaac and Addie (Stamps) U.; student Mercer U. 18 mo.; married Margaret Beverly, of Thomasville, Ga., May 5, 1909. Injured spine by fall while working on farm, and confined to bed 7 yrs.; wrote book while in bed and paid expenses at College by sale of books and lectures delivered from rolling chair; founder, 1906, and editor "The Golden Age" (mag.), Atlanta, Ga.; member 66th and 67th Congress, (1921-22 and 1922-23), 5th. Ga. Dist. Democrat. Baptist. A leader in the closing of saloons in Ga.; v. p. Anti-Saloon League America; addressed legislatures and audiences in various parts of the country in behalf of prohibition. Trustee Bessie Tift College for Women, Forsyth, Ga.; raised money to build dormitory, as memorial to his mother. Author: "Ernest Willie, or Echoes from a Recluse," 1893 (11 edits.) Home Atlanta, Ga.

A PLEA

Is this too much to ask from life;
A little home with laughter in it,
A time of rest to follow strife,
A nearby goal and strength to win it,
Health for the needful daily task?
Dear Lord, is that too much to ask?
Teach me contentment, Lord, I pray
With all the joys which now surround me;
Let me not look across the way
Envious of that which has not found me;
Teach me with fortitude to keep
My little home from hatreds cheap,
I do not ask a life of ease,
No doubts, no fears, no cares to carry,
Never to face a wintry breeze,
To wish to leave and yet to tarry;
I ask but this: whatever befall,
Faith to sustain me through it all.

Teach me to choose 'twixt false and true,
To scorn the sham wherever I find it,
To take full pride in what I do
And leave no bitterness behind it;
To live my life without regret
In spite of what I lose or get.

Lord, make me big enough to fill
My place without too much complaining;
To bear my share of good or ill,
The sun of June and April's raining—

Cuticura
Soap and Ointment
Keep the Scalp Clean and Healthy
Promote Hair Growth

To see through both the weal and woe
And know that souls are fashioned so.

To Can Quinces—Remove skins and cores. Cut into convenient slices and place these pieces in a cheese-cloth bag. Lower the bag into boiling water and leave for six minutes (quinces are so hard that they must be "blanched" in this way for a longer time than other fruit.) At the end of the six minutes plunge the bag into cold water for an instant. Now pack into hot, sterilized glass jars and cover with the following Thin Sirup: Stir three pounds of granulated sugar into one quart of hot water and let boil only long enough to dissolve the sugar. (This is not supposed to be a sticky sirup.) Partially seal the jars by putting top wire up over caps but not pressing down slide wires. Stand the jars on a rack or folded cloth in your wash-bowl canner in boiling water which reaches almost to jar-tops. After the water begins to boil again take account of time. Only allow the water to boil around the jars for 40 minutes. Remove from canner, completely seal, invert to test for leaks, label and store. (Note: In canning quince, apples or pears it is best to drop the fruit-quarters into salty water when you remove the skin and core as you prepare them for canning. This keeps the fruit from turning brown. Use salt in proportion of one tablespoon to one gallon of water.)

Quince Preserves— Pare and quarter 15 large, ripe quinces. Also pare and quarter one peck of sweet apples. Place the fruit in a preserving kettle in alternate layers with ten cups of granulated sugar. Add two cups of cold water and let stand overnight. In the morning place the kettle on the fire and let cook till the fruit is very tender and the sirup clear. Put in hot, sterilized glass jars and seal.

Quince Jelly—Take parings and cores left from quince preserves and measure. Add the same proportion in whole quinces cut small without paring or removing seeds (for although the seeds tend to darken the jelly they are necessary because they contain much of the pectin which makes jelly congeal.) Simmer for about three hours. Add more boiling water as the sirup liquid in the preserving kettle evaporates (that is, add enough to keep the fruit from adhering to the kettle-bottom and burning). When reduced to a soft pulp turn the fruit into a jelly bag and let drip overnight. In the morning measure the strained juice. Set aside the same quantity of sugar and boil the juice for 20 minutes before adding the sugar. Cook for ten minutes and seal in sterilized jars.

Tomorrow—A Jolly Picnic Party.

Today's Talks

THE EBBING NIGHT

There is something sweet and soothing about the ebbing of the tide at the water front. One of the loveliest etchings which I own is called "Ebb Tide" by McBey and I have it hung at the foot of my bed where I can see it the first thing in the morning as I awake.

The other evening I sat on my porch and watched the ebbing night. From where I sat I looked into great trees as they reached high into the air and stood like a vast hanging of black lace against the soft gray sky.

There was in the sky a clearness of great beauty; and, as the distant sun lowered, the tints grew thinner until the whole background seemed like a magnificent sheet of pale pink pearl.

I could hear the rustle of the leaves like new silk as though some Queen had just passed by.

Everything seemed full of silence so that the late singing of the little wrens in the woods echoed unusual happiness to join the night at its couch.

Across the lawn the robin ran to catch its night crawler unawares. Minute by minute the pinks faded from the sky until the dull gray gave away to a deepened blue which let the stars inside.

And then the lace of the trees blackened the more; the leaves stopped their flutter and stood nobly silhouetted against a billion stars and worlds.

I said to myself: "What a beautiful night! God is in this night. Humanity is in this night. All the hope and aspiration in this world is in this night. Poets are in this night; painters, builders, writers, and every sort of human feeling. For out of this night must come the new day—and the chances of us all."

Across the ethereal waves of the ebbing night God takes His walk; and it is then that angels take their stroll and men think kindest and open the windows and doors of their hearts.

ANIMAL ACTS TO FEATURE * SELLS- FLOTO CIRCUS HERE

It will again be circus day in Xenia next August 30, when the famous Sells-Floto Circus, one of the oldest and best known aggregations in the road, will show here after noon and night at the Washington Ball Park, Washington Street.

The circus was originally booked to play Washington C. H. that day but the advance agent changed the routing for the big circus after visiting both Xenia and Washington and noting Xenia's greater possibilities.

Sells-Floto has not played in Xenia for several years, but is rated among the largest circuses in existence, offering high class attractions. Its wild animal department is one feature of which the management is especially proud, the menagerie being obtained by Josephs, the Welshman, who has explored the four corners of the globe to obtain his specimens.

His lion, tiger, leopard, polar bear, grizzly bear and puma acts are especially good. Josephs headed a caravan of seventy-five camels in a trek across 30 miles of desert last fall. At one time he had in his possession what was claimed to be one of the most wonderful baboons in the world, but the animal died before the deal was completed and Josephs saved $25,000.

Besides the animals, none of the other circus features from clowns to aerial artists, are neglected. Sells-Floto is probably the only large circus still giving street parades and the parade is expected to be a big feature of the day here.

DOLLAR VALUE IS ALMOST NORMAL

Columbus, O., Aug. 15.—Today the Ohio farmer's dollar has a purchasing power of about 98 per cent normal, according to J. I. Falconer, of the rural economics department of Ohio State university. This is the first time in three years Falconer said, that the farmers dollar has been worth more than 90 cents.

However, it must not be considered that every state farmer is able to turn a dollars worth of his own products into 98 cents in commodities he needs, the economist pointed out. He recalled that many farmers have very little to sell now that normal value of the dollar is obtained by striking an average of the five years from 1909 to 1913.

XENIANS PATRONS OF RESTAURANT AS PLACE IS ROBBED

Mr. and Mrs. James Donovan, Sr., and granddaughter, Jane Donovan, who have been visiting relatives in Peoria, Ill., were patrons of the Pennsylvania railroad station restaurant, in Richmond, Ind., early Thursday morning, when two unmasked bandits held up a counterpane and obtained $50.

The bandits entered the place, forced Fred Smith, counterpane, in a corner and rifled the cash register. Patrons were not robbed.

Richmond police have no clue, but think the bandits are the same who obtained $29 in a holdup in Eaton, early Wednesday.

Modish Mitzi—The Tunic Blouse Is Three Quarters of a Gown.

By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi worries a good deal. Her summer clothes are off her mind but what, oh what, will she wear next season? The suspense has become too great. That's why she is doing a bit of style reconnoitering. This tunic blouse, quite heavily embroidered, is one of the newest things for the coming season.

Or if one does not care about the beauteous model in the first picture there is the straight front blouse with a narrow belt. It blouses a little bit in this long waited style. Embroidery work makes the sectional yoke and vest-like front.

Here you see Mitzi in a slip over tunic blouse of a printed silk. It's smartly sleeveless and the tie belt adjusts the waistline so that you may have it at the low height or as low as it is being worn and will be worn this season.

Of course Mitzi walks out of the store with a tunic blouse on. No one absolutely no one with the good of styles at heart, could resist this new tunic blouse with embroidered sleeves and stunning, straight beltless lines. To see a style is to wear it is one of Mitzi's mottoes. And she lives up to it pretty well.

The Covered Wagon And The Uncovered Opportunity

The "Covered Wagon" days are gone forever—and the "Covered Wagon" ways of uncovering opportunity have slipped into discard.

The oPay Express has been replaced by the Fast Mail—whose laurels are now being stolen by the airplane.

In this airplane age the "Covered Wagon" method of seeking new fields of opportunity has become unthinkable. Today's opportunity is uncovered instantly by some such agent as the telephone, the telegraph, the radio—or the Gazette-Republic A-B-C Classified Section.

The A-B-C Classified Section stands in the very front ranks of modern devices for the instantaneous uncovering of opportunity. It assembles the city's best and most profitable offers—and for speed in finding the mit classifies them numerically and indexes them alphabetically.

Read this section regularly and keep in touch with the opportunities which are continually stepping forward!

GIRLS! USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

LOVE - OR FAME?

By VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "THE HALF-TIME WIFE"

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit a friend and try to break into the movies. She soon gets started, and through the friendship of LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man, gets an engagement with

JOHN SEWARD, "the great lover of the screen," who falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. However, she cares more for French, but is not sure that he cares for her. She has an unfortunate experience with

EIKHORN, one of the big producers, and decides to go back home and give up her career, when French gets her a part in a picture being made in the country by

CARL BANNING. French follows her to the country and proposes to her. Banning persuades her not to be married at once, and French goes back to New York. The star of the production,

CRYSTAL MAY, does all that she can to make things unpleasant for Dorothy. Crystal refuses to do a dangerous leap, and Banning gives that scene to Dorothy. Dorothy realizes that it will mean a great deal to her career if she does it and goes through with it, though she is much frightened. Later she learns that Crystal has insisted on having that scene cut out. Dorothy receives word from Lawrence that he is leaving for California as publicity man for a famous actress. She is disconsolate. She returns to New York, expecting to be quite alone there. But Lawrence French meets her at the station. They are married at once. They go with John Seward to a projection room to see the picture which Dorothy made with him.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

LVII—TORTURE.

I RECOGNIZED several people among the dozen or more that were gathered there—the man who wrote the story from which John Seward had made his picture, and the director and one or two others. The cameraman was huddled up in a corner, looking as if the whole picture depended on him; he came over and sat with us, and he said that that afternoon he'd been offered eight hundred dollars a week to "turn the crank" on a picture that a woman who'd just been acquitted in a sensational murder trial was going to make. She had lots of money behind her, but he had refused to have anything to do with it. I couldn't help wishing that more people who are concerned in the making of pictures felt as he did about such things.

When they turned out the lights Larry reached over and took my hand, and I slumped down in my chair contentedly. I had begun to realize that I was pretty tired, after the long train journey and the excitement of getting married and all that. But just the realization that I had Larry to take care of me made me feel more rested, as if I'd dumped the weight of all my fatigue on his shoulders.

And then, as I sat there thinking of him and the home we'd have and a lot of things like that, something happened that made my heart bounce up into my throat, and hot and cold shivers run all over me. I wanted to jump from my chair and shriek, and I wanted to crawl under it and hide at the same moment.

For there I was on the screen! I'd seen myself before, of course, but just in very little parts, with a lot of people. This first shot in this picture, I realized afterward, had been taken when I didn't know that it was. I remembered that I'd been standing over at one side of the set one day, talking to Larry, and he'd told me of a wonderful place he knew of, where he and Sylvia and a man he knew and I could go Sunday afternoon. And I could recall how pleased and excited I was about it, because it was the first time he'd asked me to go anywhere like that, and I'd suddenly realized that he liked me very much.

They had been wheeling the camera around a lot, adjusting it for a close-up of Jack Seward, and I hadn't paid any attention to what they were doing. But Mr. Seward had called Larry, and I had turned around to answer something he said to me as he went—so that was when they took the shot of me that they showed first.

"What a beautifully radiant face!" a woman exclaimed somewhere near me. In the darkness I couldn't see her, but later I learned that she was a critic on one of the newspapers.

"Wonderful, dear!" Larry whispered to me at the same moment, but he turned and looked at me curiously.

You see, that first shot was supposed to be when I was looking at the hero, John Seward. I was playing the role of a girl who was in love with an older man, and he didn't know it till the end of the picture.

COOLIDGE LAUDS PARTY'S RECORD IN SPEECH ACCEPTING STANDARD

GERMAN REPLY PAVES WAY FOR ACCEPTANCE

French Proposals May Be Adopted

Germany May Offer Concessions

Washington, Aug. 15.—Having formally taken up the standard of his party and charted the course of the coming campaign, President Coolidge prepared today to leave Washington for the Vermont hills, where for two weeks he will enjoy a complete rest, preparatory to engaging in one of the hardest fights for the presidency in history.

Shortly after noon the president, accompanied only by Mrs. Coolidge, their son John and C. Bascom Slemph, the presidential secretary, will entrain for Plymouth, Vt. home of his father and scene of his birth.

All cares of office have been laid aside for the vacation period; absolute retirement is contemplated. The president is leaving Washington with his campaign fully outlined; his issues clearly asserted. At the notification ceremonies last night when he formally accepted the Republican nomination for the presidency, Mr. Coolidge laid down in precise language his claims for continuance in his office and his promises to the nation if elected.

As indicated in past utterances the president will conduct his fight for reelection upon the basic issues of governmental economy and tax reduction.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Formally notified of his nomination by the Republican party for president of the United States, President Calvin Coolidge responded with his speech of acceptance, in which he reviewed what he holds as the issues of the hour.

The notification ceremonies were held last night in Memorial Continental hall, scene of the Washington disarmament conference. Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee opened the meeting, introducing former Representative Mondell of Wyoming, who was permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention.

Mondell, acting as chairman of the notification committee, composed of a representative from each of the states and territories, made a brief speech informing the president of the convention's action. Coolidge then delivered his speech of acceptance.

The president declared he favored a permanent world court and further limitation of armaments, the national child labor amendment, just taxation and economy. He pointed out the achievements of the Republican administration since it resumed the reins in 1921. He declared that treaties of world-wide importance have been ratified with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Colombia and Mexico, that 42 other treaties have met with the approval of the senate, while six still await action. Friendly intercourse with Greece and Turkey has been resumed. Peace and American rights have been assured in the far east and the Pacific.

Turning to finance, the president called attention to the enactment of the budget system, and the resultant savings of the plan. The public debt, now stands at about $21,500,000,000, he said, which is a reduction in three years of about $2,750,000,000 and means an annual saving in interest of more than $120,000,000. The $7,000,000,000 of short-time obligations have all been quietly refunded or paid, he declared, and added: "The internal revenue taxes have been reduced twice, and many of them repealed, so that during the present fiscal year the tax receipts show a saving to the people of approximately $6,000,000 a day compared with 1921. One government bond has sold well over 100%."

President Coolidge pointed out that more than 40 per cent of the debt due us from foreign nations has been liquidated, providing funds for liquidating about $13,000,000,000 of the national debt during a 62-year term. "The finances of this nation have been managed with a genius and a success unmatched since the days of Hamilton," Mr. Coolidge declared.

Referring to the care of disabled veterans, the president said that more than 71,000 have been rehabilitated, 38,000 of whom are earning more than they did before the war. Compensation is being paid at the rate of about $100,000,000 a year, soon to be increased by $30,000,000 more; $40,000,000 have been provided for hospital facilities, which are open to veterans of all American wars.

Dealing with the tariff Mr. Coolidge said: "By means of a protective tariff we have saved American agriculture, labor and industry from the menace of having their great home market destroyed through the dumping upon it of a flood of foreign products. Under this wise policy we saw an economic revival, and our people as a whole have come into an era of prosperity and plenty. As a source of revenue the tariff surpassed all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $550,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury, while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity, defends itself against any criticism."

The president declared he favored the system of private American enterprise and was opposed to the extension of government ownership and control; that he believed in economy in public expenditures and the practical application of the theory; that he believed in tax reduction and tax reform; that he favored protection favoring the permanent court; he said: "I shall avoid involving our allies in the political controversies of Europe, but I shall do what I can to encourage American citizens and resources to assist in restoring Europe, with the sympathetic support of our government. I want agriculture and industry on a sound basis of prosperity and equality. I shall continue to strive for the economic, moral and spiritual welfare of my country. American citizens will decide in the coming election whether these principles shall have their approval and support."

He reaffirmed his opposition to entrance into the league of nations, and referred to the part America has played in the rehabilitation of Europe.

At the notification ceremonies last night when he formally accepted the Republican nomination for the presidency, Mr. Coolidge laid down in precise language his claims for continuance in his office and his promises to the nation if elected.

As indicated in past utterances the president will conduct his fight for reelection upon the basic issues of governmental economy and tax reduction.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Formally notified of his nomination by the Republican party for president of the United States, President Calvin Coolidge responded with his speech of acceptance, in which he reviewed what he holds as the issues of the hour.

The notification ceremonies were held last night in Memorial Continental hall, scene of the Washington disarmament conference. Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee opened the meeting, introducing former Representative Mondell of Wyoming, who was permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention.

Mondell, acting as chairman of the notification committee, composed of a representative from each of the states and territories, made a brief speech informing the president of the convention's action. Coolidge then delivered his speech of acceptance.

The president declared he favored a permanent world court and further limitation of armaments, the national child labor amendment, just taxation and economy. He pointed out the achievements of the Republican administration since it resumed the reins in 1921. He declared that treaties of world-wide importance have been ratified with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Colombia and Mexico, that 42 other treaties have met with the approval of the senate, while six still await action. Friendly intercourse with Greece and Turkey has been resumed. Peace and American rights have been assured in the far east and the Pacific.

Turning to finance, the president called attention to the enactment of the budget system, and the resultant savings of the plan. The public debt, now stands at about $21,500,000,000, he said, which is a reduction in three years of about $2,750,000,000 and means an annual saving in interest of more than $120,000,000. The $7,000,000,000 of short-time obligations have all been quietly refunded or paid, he declared, and added: "The internal revenue taxes have been reduced twice, and many of them repealed, so that during the present fiscal year the tax receipts show a saving to the people of approximately $6,000,000 a day compared with 1921. One government bond has sold well over 100%."

President Coolidge pointed out that more than 40 per cent of the debt due us from foreign nations has been liquidated, providing funds for liquidating about $13,000,000,000 of the national debt during a 62-year term. "The finances of this nation have been managed with a genius and a success unmatched since the days of Hamilton," Mr. Coolidge declared.

Referring to the care of disabled veterans, the president said that more than 71,000 have been rehabilitated, 38,000 of whom are earning more than they did before the war. Compensation is being paid at the rate of about $100,000,000 a year, soon to be increased by $30,000,000 more; $40,000,000 have been provided for hospital facilities, which are open to veterans of all American wars.

Dealing with the tariff Mr. Coolidge said: "By means of a protective tariff we have saved American agriculture, labor and industry from the menace of having their great home market destroyed through the dumping upon it of a flood of foreign products. Under this wise policy we saw an economic revival, and our people as a whole have come into an era of prosperity and plenty. As a source of revenue the tariff surpassed all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $550,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury, while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity, defends itself against any criticism."

The president declared he favored the system of private American enterprise and was opposed to the extension of government ownership and control; that he believed in economy in public expenditures and the practical application of the theory; that he believed in tax reduction and tax reform; that he favored protection favoring the permanent court; he said: "I shall avoid involving our allies in the political controversies of Europe, but I shall do what I can to encourage American citizens and resources to assist in restoring Europe, with the sympathetic support of our government. I want agriculture and industry on a sound basis of prosperity and equality. I shall continue to strive for the economic, moral and spiritual welfare of my country. American citizens will decide in the coming election whether these principles shall have their approval and support."

He reaffirmed his opposition to entrance into the league of nations, and referred to the part America has played in the rehabilitation of Europe.

Both Benham and Harrison are under sentence in federal district court to 20 years in federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, following their conviction of using the mails to defraud. In addition to the prison terms, each was fined $5,000 on the federal charge. The federal court conviction has been appealed.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The fate of the allied reparations conference, rested in the hands of the Germans today. Indications being that the Berlin delegates would make further concessions regarding Ruhr evacuation which would enable the conference to wind up its work forthwith.

Chancellor Marx and his colleagues had decided to accept the French Ruhr terms last night, but received word from Berlin that President Ebert wished to have conferences with the various political leaders first so the Teuton envoys postponed action until today.

In the meantime some of the messages from Berlin were of such a nature that Chancellor Marx became doubtful over the wisdom of his policy and asked the German government for further instructions.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—Following conferences between President Ebert and leaders of all political factions, the president sent a long message to Chancellor Marx in London today giving the consensus regarding the acceptance of the French terms for evacuation of the Ruhr.

It is believed in some quarters that Germany will make further concessions upon the issue of the Ruhr evacuation, meanwhile reaching a tacit understanding with Premier Herriot that actual evacuation shall begin sooner than the formal protocol calls for.

German newspapers expressed deep disappointment over latest developments in the London conference. According to reports received here, Frank B. Kellogg, American ambassador, gave his support to Premier Herriot, of France.

DOLLINGS HEAD TO

L. Dollings company, were upheld by the Franklin county court of appeals. Harrison probably will carry his case to the state supreme court.

Harrison and William G. Both Benham and Harrison are under sentence in federal district court to 20 years in federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, following their conviction of using the mails to defraud. ALIENISTS FOR STATE SHARPLY HIT BY DARROW

Testimony Attacked and Clash Follows

State Witnesses Are Quizzed Severely

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Evidence given by Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, state alienist, was sharply attacked by the defense at the hearing of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb.

Benjamin Bachrach, defense attorney, sought to show that Dr. Patrick had but little opportunity to examine Leopold and Loeb after their arrest for the murder of Robert Franks and that his examination was superficial and therefore inconclusive.

Dr. Patrick has struck many blows at the defense medical case, dismissing the entire structure with the statement that there was nothing abnormal about either of the boys.

Attorney Bachrach brought out that the doctor's conversation with the boys lasted approximately a half hour. "When you talked with Leopold did you consider that as part of your examination?" Bachrach asked. "I suppose I did," Dr. Patrick answered. "I don't exactly recall but I presume that I made a mental note of all that was said for the purpose of using it in that manner. I might not have considered it in the light of a study at that time, but at least it was a sort of preliminary to my actual examination."

Bachrach then sought to show that the surroundings in the state's attorney's office, where the conversations were held, were not adaptable to a comprehensive study of the boys. "Do you consider those surroundings were adaptable for a mental examination?" Bachrach asked.

"Oh, well, I consider that they were adaptable to bringing out certain qualities, such as the mental attitude, the ability to hold conversation, the working of the mind, the intelligence, the use of language and the memory," the doctor replied.

Darrow in Clash.

Dr. Archibald Church, state alienist, also was cross-examined by the defense. Attorney Darrow quizzed Dr. Church as to the guise under which he had approached the youths. "Now isn't it a fact that you went to them only for the sake of getting evidence on which they could be hanged?" Darrow shot at the witness.

Dr. Church had asserted he had been introduced by the youths as a doctor and that the purpose of his visit was explained to them. "You know that isn't true, Darrow," he said heatedly, shaking his finger at the defense attorney. "Crowe was on his feet shouting for the doctor to continue his reply, while at the same time Darrow uttered an apology and requested the question be stricken from the record as 'an inadverence'."

Under careful cross-examination by the veteran Darrow, Dr. Church admitted that the present ages of Loeb and Leopold are within the "trying period of a young man's life" and that no doctor nor teacher could examine youths at their age without taking that into consideration.

The state alienist further agreed with the presentation of the defense alienists' claims of mental sickness in the youths by an admission that if Loeb's phantasy of being a detective had lasted from childhood into young manhood, it would be "abnormal," it being another part of the defense's plea that childish phantasies continuing as evil influences affected their years after adolescence.

"Kid" McCoy Most Lovable Man Eighth Wife Says

By DAGMAR DALGREN
Kid McCoy's Eighth Wife
(Written exclusively for International News Service)

Los Angeles, Aug. 15.—Norman Selby is the most lovable man in the world. There is something about him that no woman can resist. When I met him at the age of 19, I gave my heart to him wholly and, strange as it may seem, that a woman gives to her first love.

I did not leave Norman. He left me three weeks after we were married. The anguish of that moment haunts me still and it was my great love for him that caused me to divorce him. I really had no grounds. I realized, although only a girl, at the time, that Norman was the type of man who should not be encumbered with a wife.

So it was my love for him that made me seek a divorce five months later and set free the one great love of my life.

It was this love for him that made me refuse to remarry him when he came hurrying back to me after he had been served with the divorce papers and pleaded with me to continue our honeymoon with him. I met Norman in 1920 when I was a boarder with his sister, Mrs. Jennie Thomas. I had heard a great deal about him as

Officials Deny Stories of Veterans.

Dayton, O., Aug. 15.—Hearing of witnesses in the investigation of conditions at the national military home here was resumed by Congressmen Roy G. Fitzgerald and Alfred Bulwinkle.

Witnesses testified that sane patients in the general hospital of the home were confined in insane wards. Thomas W. Garvin, world war veteran, made the charge, and said that he himself had been confined in an insane ward eight days. Garvin said another veteran, William Doty, 90, was brutally treated by a nurse, Hattie E. Davis, and choked and beaten. Garvin's charges were flatly denied by Dr. J. F. Heath, who was in charge of Ward 15, the one in which Garvin and Doty were confined. Dr. Heath said that Garvin was a veronal addict and "mentally incompetent."

Another feature of the testimony was the questioning of Harvey Sutton, hospital steward, accused of selling jobs. The congressmen said they had a complaint signed by 11 inmates in which Sutton was accused of taking bribes to give positions to men as hospital attendants. They also accused Sutton of borrowing money from ex-soldiers and then keeping it. Sutton denied the accusations.

Garvin testified that he was forced to endorse a money order sent to him by his brother and that Dr. Heath kept the money. The doctor declared the charge was false. He said the money was credited to Garvin's account.

M'COY PREPARING TO MAKE INSANITY DEFENSE PLEA

Police Certain Ex-Pugilist and Film Star Killed Woman—Sister Will Testify Before Grand Jury.

Los Angeles, Aug. 15.—"Kid McCoy" went into training here today for the greatest battle of his career, with his own life as the prize.

Three days after the finding of the mutilated body of the woman he planned to make his tenth wife, the authorities were moving swiftly to complete final formalities of charging the former ring champion with her murder, while he sullenly conferred with his attorneys in a jail cell.

"There is no question in my mind that McCoy deliberately killed Mrs. Teresa Mors because she refused to marry him and also declined to part with her wealth," declared District Attorney Asa Keyes, as he started the machinery which he said would result in McCoy's formal indictment Tuesday.

"McCoy killed the woman, planned to kill her husband and then take his own life," said Keyes, "but he lost his nerve and now concocts a suicide story backed up by a plea that he is insane and hopes to save his neck."

The principle witness summoned today to testify before the grand jury is Mrs. Jennie Thomas, McCoy's own sister, who already has informed that body that her brother told her he had quarreled with Mrs. Mors, and was afraid he had killed her.

Mrs. Thomas, reluctantly of course, will again testify before the grand jury as she did yesterday, said the district attorney, that her brother came to her and confessed the murder and prepared to kill himself.

McCoy, according to the story of Mrs. Thomas, after making the alleged confession, emptied his pockets of valuables, wrote his will and left to commit suicide.

Outstanding in early developments today was the declaration of County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner, who performed an autopsy on Mrs. Mors' body, that his findings were that the shot which killed Mrs. Mors was fired at a distance of three feet or more. This, authorities said, swept aside McCoy's version that she killed herself. There were no powder marks on the

ROUGH AND TUMBLE DANCING BLAMED ON MODERN MUSIC

Teacher To Ask For Better Jazz

New York, Aug. 15.—It's not the dancers at all, but the music that's to blame for the prevalent rough and tumble dancing, the International Association of Masters of Dancing was told here today at its convention.

Edward S. Hurst of Atlanta, Ga., said so. He based his conclusions on observations made as one of a committee sent by the convention to four exclusive roof gardens, less exclusive cabarets and downright dives in Greenwich village.

So convinced is Hurst that the music popular in cheaper dance halls is making savages of persons who really want to step around with dignity that he is going from here to the convention next week in Chicago of the American National Association of Masters of Dancing to tell its delegates so. He wants the international and national associations to appoint a joint committee to visit the associated song writers and beg them to please lay off.

ENJOINS SHUTTING OFF ELECTRICITY

Newark, O., Aug. 15.—Late yesterday afternoon the Buckeye Lake Park Company, through its attorneys, Jones and Jones, filed an injunction against the C. N. and Z. Railway Company, enjoining it from shutting off the electric light current which was threatened today.

The railway company contends the park company's lease expired last October but this is disputed by the company, which says the lease has yet to run until 1926.

The railway company wants the park company to pay for current and for the latter contends the terms of the lease provide for current gratis.

IMPORTS EXCEED EXPORTS IN JULY

Washington, Aug. 15.—Imports of $278,400,000 to the United States in July exceeded exports by $400,000, the department of Commerce announced today.

In July, 1923, exports were $140,000,000 greater than imports. For the first seven months of 1924, the United States had a favorable trade balance of $239,000,000 compared to an unfavorable trade balance of $172,000,000 in 1923.

Gold imports in July of $18,800,000 were the lowest for any month of the year. A total of $245,000,000 in gold had been imported into the United States, the seven months ending July 31, against $159,861,000 for the same period last year.

Boys Hit by Machine.

Columbus, Aug. 15.—Ben Blank, 8, and Solomon Uretzky, 8, were struck by an automobile as they crossed the street in front of their home. They were severely injured.

body as Wagner said there would have been if she had killed herself. Wagner told the grand jury re-examination of the corpse showed it was fearfully mutilated. The breast was deeply cut, one wrist and the lips slashed, both eyes blackened and cut, and bruised by slashes and blows he said.

This, Keyes held, was another link in the evidence against the former pugilist; champion, who claimed Mrs. Mors cut herself in a suicide attempt and later while struggling with him for possession of a butcher knife.

That Mrs. Mors feared McCoy was charged by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schapps who with W. C. Ross, Cleveland millionaire were shot by the former boxer on his wild rampage following Mrs. Mors' death.

"I know he will kill me" was what Mrs. Mors told us," the Schapp said. "She realized she had been foolish and said she would tell McCoy she was through with him and then she said, 'but when I tell him, he'll kill me.'"

AMERICAN PILOTS AGAIN POSTPONE ROUND WORLD JUMP

Weather Holds Up Two Globe Girdlers

Reykjavik, Aug. 15.—(By Wireless)—On account of wind and rain, Lieutenant Lowell Smith and Lieutenant Erik Nelson, United States army "round the world air pilots today postponed their flight to Angmagssalik, Greenland.

They plan to hop off tomorrow morning if weather conditions permit and the cruiser Raleigh reports favorable conditions, for landing at the Greenland port.

The cruiser Richmond has left for Greenland waters while destroyers are stationed enroute waiting for the Yankee airmen to pass.

According to a radiogram from the cruiser Raleigh there is still much ice in the Angmagssalik harbor, but Lieut. Schulz, advance flight officer and Lieutenant Leigh Wade believe that there is not too much for landing. It is departing that will give the most trouble as the planes must "taxi" considerable distance before rising.

When seventy miles off Angmagssalik the Raleigh reported bad weather. The weather was stormy here Wednesday night, followed by sunshine Thursday and another period of bad weather today.

Rangoon, India, Aug. 15.—Major Zanni, Argentine world flyer, hopped off at 7:50 o'clock for Bangkok, capital of Siam. Weather conditions were excellent.

REAPPRAISEMENT RAISES DUPLICATE

Columbus, Aug. 15.—Through recent reappraisal, Franklin county's tax duplicate has been increased $199,074,810 by new values placed on real estate, according to figures announced by County Auditor Thatcher. The reappraisal adds $172,457,730 to the tax duplicate in the city of Columbus. The new values set a grand total of $529,625,820 on all real estate in the county, compared to a value of $330,551,010 placed on the duplicate in 1923. Neither figure includes the personal property duplicate of $290,000,000, which, added to the reappraised real estate value, makes the total $729,000,000. The tax duplicate in Columbus is increased from $259,104,610 to $431,562,340.

SCHOOL CASE IS UP TO SUPREME COURT

Washington, Aug. 15.—In the federal supreme court two cases were docketed involving the right of states to require children between the ages of 8 and 16 to attend public schools. The appeals were brought by Governor Pierce and Attorney General Vanwinkle of Oregon and District Attorney Myers of Multnomah county of that state. Proceedings instituted by the Society of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary and the Hill Military academy in the federal district court of Oregon, contesting the constitutionality of the law on the grounds that it would prohibit children from attending parochial and private schools, resulted in a temporary injunction restraining the enforcement of the act.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

BERNARR MACFADDEN

When the time comes that baby, tiring of scrambling and creeping, attempts to toddle across the room on a couple of very uncertain legs, his mother must exercise great caution lest the efforts of the child work him irreparable harm. Do not, as you wish for beautiful, straight, well-developed limbs, try to hurry or urge baby to stand or to walk before he is fully prepared by Nature with the means to the end in question.

Remember that his bones are as yet soft and yielding, and if he be allowed too soon to put the weight of his body upon them, just so surely will they yield to that weight, and become hoop-like, or "bowed" instead of straight and perfect members, as Nature intended them to be.

So will baby carry through life a deformity which will surely be a constant rebuke to his mother on the score of either her neglect or her vanity, the one equalling the other in its disastrous consequences. She may have failed to check his locomotive precocity, or, through motherly false pride have encouraged him to walk at too early an age. I beg of you not to rob your child thus of his right to comeliness, and so cast a shadow over his maturity. In later years no reproach may ever fall from his lips, but do not doubt that, although, his love for you may prompt him to suffer in silence the sting of misshaping will rankle in his soul throughout life.

Exercise his little legs regularly and perseveringly, but never permit him to bear his full weight upon them all at once. Let the pressure upon them be very gradual, and allow weeks or months to pass before he really walks unaided.

In any event, let the attempt to stand be made on the motion of the baby, and not as the result of a suggestion from the mother.

When the wee man tries to lift himself up by the bedpost, the chair, the wall, or mother's knee, let him emulate the example of Robert Bruce and the spider, and through constant effort will succeed at last. His incidental tumbles will not hurt him a bit, for his little bones are soft and his muscles elastic, so that he practically rebounds unharmed from whatever he lands on.

Do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. S.S.S. is waiting to help you. "She would be a pretty girl, if it wasn't for that pimply, blotchy complexion!" But the regular use of Resinol soap, added at first by a little Resinol Ointment, would probably make it clear, fresh and charming. If a poor skin is your handicap, begin using Resinol Soap and see how quickly it improves.

VOTE UNCHANGED BY OFFICIAL CANVASS

No material change was noticeable in the official canvass of the primary vote of the election Tuesday, by the election board.

The count required nearly two days to complete but when finished there was not enough change in the votes to affect any candidate's position.

The four ties that existed in the race for Democratic central committeemen in the county was unusual, said Earl Short, clerk of the board, and the winners will probably be determined by lot when a meeting of the board is held in several days.

THE RIGHT KIND OF TALK

W. G. Lee, Grand President of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, declares that national organization did not join the American Federation of Labor in endorsing the presidential candidacy of Senator Robert M. La Follette and almost certainly will not to do. Mr. Lee, at Portsmouth, Va., to attend the booster meeting of Virginia trainmen, said: "The brotherhood will adhere to its settled policy of leaving its members free and untrammelled to vote their individual preferences. I purpose to place before the membership the records of the three candidates, the records of their parties and the platforms on which they are running, so that members of the brotherhood will have all the essential facts necessary to make a choice of the candidates. No word of mine will be in any way persuasive as to choice. The brotherhood is composed of men of fine intelligence. I would not presume—I would be ashamed to indicate a voting policy—for that would indicate that I have less faith in their intelligence than I have. Labor leaders who attempt to make congressmen and others believe they carry the vote of the membership in their vest pockets are only kidding themselves and I have been surprised at the number of public servants and others who seem to believe that labor's vote can be traded to about the same extent as any article of merchandise. The membership of the brotherhood—approximately 180,000 at this time—is sufficiently intelligent to determine how and when to vote, and I have never deceived myself into the belief that such membership, through my influence, could be delivered to any political party at will."

A HERO CONGRESSMAN, AFTER SEVEN YEARS IN BED

The Christian Herald, August 16th, has a strikingly interesting article by W. G. Shepherd, accompanied by a picture of Congressman W. D. Upshaw, of Atlanta, Ga., on his crutches. We quote from the article as follows:

Perhaps my readers have forgotten the name of the Congressman who, about a year ago, on the floor of the House of Representatives, stirred the entire United States by attacking Government officials who violate the Prohibition Law. It was Upshaw, standing on his crutches.

Round after round of applause came from Congressmen and from the galleries, as he said, "Let the Governors of our States, led by the President and the Vice-President of the United States and all the members of the Cabinet walk out into the open and lift up their hands before high heaven and take a new oath of allegiance to the whole Constitution and the American flag—that regardless of what their tastes and their practices have been they will never again build up a bootlegger's trade by drinking any form or amount of illicit liquor at any dinners or any functions or in any 'ballroom or back alley.'"

"Let every member of Congress and every United States Senator follow suit; let every State and Federal Judge and every prosecuting attorney in America stand up like patriotic men and declare that they will never again personally trample the Constitution which they have sworn to obey and defend. No longer must these 'higher-ups' in Government say 'Go,' at the end of an official lash. They must say 'Come,' in all the glory of consistent leadership."

It was Upshaw's Prohibition fight in Georgia that got him into politics. That was in 1918 when the Prohibition fight was incredibly hot in the South.

The following is "Who's Who's" short sketch of Mr. Upshaw: Upshaw, William David, congressman; born, Newman, Ga., Oct. 15, 1866; son of Isaac and Addie (Stamps) U.; student Mercer U. 18 mo.; married Margaret Beverly, of Thomasville, Ga., May 5, 1909. Injured spine by fall while working on farm, and confined to bed 7 yrs.; wrote book while in bed and paid expenses at College by sale of books and lectures delivered from rolling chair; founder, 1906, and editor "The Golden Age" (mag.), Atlanta, Ga.; member 66th and 67th Congress, (1921-22 and 1922-23), 5th. Ga. Dist. Democrat. Baptist. A leader in the closing of saloons in Ga.; v. p. Anti-Saloon League America; addressed legislatures and audiences in various parts of the country in behalf of prohibition. Trustee Bessie Tift College for Women, Forsyth, Ga.; raised money to build dormitory, as memorial to his mother. Author: "Ernest Willie, or Echoes from a Recluse," 1893 (11 edits.) Home Atlanta, Ga.

A PLEA

Is this too much to ask from life;
A little home with laughter in it,
A time of rest to follow strife,
A nearby goal and strength to win it,
Health for the needful daily task?
Dear Lord, is that too much to ask?
Teach me contentment, Lord, I pray
With all the joys which now surround me;
Let me not look across the way
Envious of that which has not found me;
Teach me with fortitude to keep
My little home from hatreds cheap,
I do not ask a life of ease,
No doubt, no fears, no cares to carry,
Never to face a wintry breeze,
To wish to leave and yet to tarry;
I ask but this: whatever befall,
Faith to sustain me through it all.
Teach me to choose 'twixt false and true,
To scorn the sham where'er I find it,
To take full pride in what I do
And leave no bitterness behind it;
To live my life without regret
In spite of what I lose or get.
Lord, make me big enough to fill
My place without too much complaining;
To bear my share of good or ill,
The sun of June and April's rain—

To see through both the weal and woe
And know that souls are fashioned so.

To Can Quinces—Remove skins and cores. Cut into convenient slices and place these pieces in a cheese-cloth bag. Lower the bag into boiling water and leave for six minutes (quinces are so hard that they must be "blanched" in this way for a longer time than other fruit.) At the end of the six minutes plunge the bag into cold water for an instant. Now pack into hot, sterilized glass jars and cover with the following Thin Sirup: Stir three pounds of granulated sugar into one quart of hot water and let boil only long enough to dissolve the sugar. (This is not supposed to be a sticky sirup.) Partially seal the jars by putting top wire up over caps but not pressing down side wires. Stand the jars on a rack or folded cloth in your wash-bowl canner in boiling water which reaches almost to jar-tops. After the water begins to boil again take account of time. Only allow the water to boil around the jars for 40 minutes. Remove from canner, completely seal, invert to test for leaks, label and store. (Note: In canning quince, apples or pears it is best to drop the fruit-quarters into salty water when you remove the skin and core as you prepare them for canning. This keeps the fruit from turning brown. Use salt in

Quince Preserves— Pare and quarter 15 large, ripe quinces. Also pare and quarter one peck of sweet apples. Place the fruit in a preserving kettle in alternate layers with ten cups of granulated sugar. Add two cups of cold water and let stand overnight. In the morning place the kettle on the fire and let cook till the fruit is very tender and the sirup clear. Put in hot, sterilized glass jars and seal.

Quince Jelly—Take parings and cores left from quince preserves and measure. Add the same proportion in whole quinces cut small without paring or removing seeds (for although the seeds tend to darken the jelly they are necessary because they contain much of the pectin which makes jelly congeal.) Simmer for about three hours. Add more boiling water as the sirup liquid in the preserving kettle evaporates (that is, add enough to keep the fruit from adhering to the kettle-bottom and burning). When reduced to a soft pulp turn the fruit into a jelly bag and let drip overnight. In the morning measure the strained juice. Set aside the same quantity of sugar and boil the juice for 20 minutes before adding the sugar. Cook for ten minutes and seal in sterilized jars.

Tomorrow—A Jolly Picnic Party.

THE EBBING NIGHT

There is something sweet and soothing about the ebbing of the tide at the water front. One of the loveliest evenings which I own is called "Ebb Tide" by McBey and I have it hung at the foot of my bed where I can see it the first thing in the morning as I awake.

The other evening I sat on my porch and watched the ebbing night. From where I sat I looked into great trees as they reached high into the air and stood like a vast hanging of black lace against the soft gray sky.

There was in the sky a clearness of great beauty; and as the distant sun lowered, the tints grew thinner until the whole background seemed like a magnificent sheet of pale pink pearl. I could hear the rustle of the leaves like new silk as though some Queen had just passed by.

Everything seemed full of silence so that the late singing of the little wrens in the woods echoed unusual happiness to join the night at its couch.

Across the lawn the robin ran to catch its night crawler unawares. Minute by minute the pinks faded from the sky until the dull gray gave away to a deepened blue which let the stars inside.

And then the lace of the trees blackened the more; the leaves stopped their flutter and stood nobly silhouetted against a billion stars and worlds.

I said to myself: "What a beautiful night! God is in this night. Humanity is in this night. All the hope and aspiration in this world is in this night. Poets are in this night; painters, builders, writers, and every sort of human feeling. For out of this night must come the new day—and the chances of us all."

Across the ethereal waves of the ebbing night God takes His walk; and it is then that angels take their stroll and men think kindest and open the windows and doors of their hearts.

ANIMAL ACTS TO FEATURE * SELLS- FLOTO CIRCUS HERE

It will again be circus day in Xenia next August 30, when the famous Sells-Floto Circus, one of the oldest and best known aggregations in the world will show here afternoon and night at the Washington Ball Park, Washington Street.

The circus was originally booked to play Washington C. H. that day but the advance agent changed the routing for the big circus after visiting both Xenia and Washington and noting Xenia's greater possibilities.

Sells-Floto has not played in Xenia for several years, but is rated among the largest circuses in existence, offering high class attractions. Its wild animal department is one feature of which the management is especially proud, the menagerie being obtained by Josephs, the Welshman, who has explored the four corners of the globe to obtain his specimens.

His lion, tiger, leopard, polar bear, grizzly bear and puma acts are especially good. Josephs headed a caravan of seventy-five camels in a trek across the 30 miles of desert last fall. At one time he had in his possession what was claimed to be one of the most wonderful baboons in the world, but the animal died before the deal was completed and Josephs saved $25,000.

Besides the animals, none of the other circus features, from clowns to aerial artists, are neglected. Sells-Floto is probably the only large circus still giving street parades and the parade is expected to be a big feature of the day here.

DOLLAR VALUE IS ALMOST NORMAL

Columbus, O., Aug. 15.—Today the Ohio farmer's dollar has a purchasing power of about 98 per cent normal, according to J. I. Falconer, of the rural economics department of Ohio State university. This is the first time in three years Falconer said, that the farmers dollar has been worth more than 90 cents.

However, it must not be considered that every state farmer is able to turn a dollars worth of his own products into 98 cents in commodities he needs, the economist pointed out. He recalled that many farmers have very little to sell now that normal value of the dollar is obtained by striking an average of the five years from 1909 to 1913.

Mrs. Hubert Howard and baby son, of Huntington, W. Va., arrived Tuesday to visit her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Finley.

XENIANS PATRONS OF RESTAURANT AS PLACE IS ROBBED

Mr. and Mrs. James Donovan, Sr., and granddaughter, Jane Donovan, who have been visiting relatives in Peoria, Ill., were patrons of the Pennsylvania railroad station restaurant, in Richmond, Ind., early Thursday morning, when two unmasked bandits held up a counterpane and obtained $50.

The bandits entered the place, forced Fred Smith, counterpane, in a corner and rifled the cash register. Patrons were not robbed.

Richmond police have no clue, but think the bandits are the same who obtained $20 in a holdup in Eaton, early Wednesday.

Modish Mitzi—The Tunic Blouse Is Three Quarters of a Gown.

By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi worries a good deal. Her summer clothes are off her mind but what, oh what, will she wear next season? The suspense has become too great. That's why she is doing a bit of style reconnoitering. This tunic blouse, quite heavily embroidered, is one of the newest things for the coming season.

Or if one does not care about the beltless model in the first picture there is the straight front blouse with a narrow belt. It blouses a little bit in this long waited style. Embroidery work makes the sectional yoke and vest-like front.

Here you see Mitzi in a slip over tunic blouse of a printed silk. It's smartly sleeveless and the tie belt adjusts the waistline so that you may have it at the low height or as low as it is being worn and will be worn this season.

Of course Mitzi walks out of the store with a tunic blouse on. No one absolutely no one with the good of styles at heart, could resist this new tunic blouse with embroidered sleeves and stunning, straight beltless lines. To see a style is to wear it is one of Mitzi's mottoes. And she lives up to it pretty well.

The Covered Wagon And The Uncovered Opportunity

The "Covered Wagon" days are gone forever—and the "Covered Wagon" ways of uncovering opportunity have slipped into discard.

The oPay Express has been replaced by the Fast Mail—whose laurels are now being stolen by the airplane.

In this airplane age the "Covered Wagon" method of seeking new fields of opportunity has become unthinkable. Today's opportunity is uncovered instantly by some such agent as the telephone, the telegraph, the radio—or the Gazette-Republican A-B-C Classified Section.

The A-B-C Classified Section stands in the very front ranks of modern devices for the instantaneous uncovering of opportunity. It assembles the city's best and most profitable offers—and for speed in finding the mit classifies them numerically and indexes them alphabetically.

FARM PROGRESS

Invitations are being issued for the community Poultry House Raising on the Everett Stubb's farm two miles south of Xenia, August 19.

This is to be an old-fashioned poultry house raising applied to a modern poultry house. This is to be a combination roof laying house, 24 by 30 feet and is of the most advanced type.

The work is to be supervised by H. P. Twitchell, Agricultural Engineer and R. E. Cray, Poultry Specialist of Ohio State University. These men will come to Greene County Monday morning and Monday the frame work will be put up under their supervision.

On Tuesday, Greene County farmers who are interested are invited to come and bring their saw, hammer and square and get an idea by assisting with the work how a modern poultry house is built. Free dinner will be served at the Stubb's farm, and the women are also invited to come and assist with the serving of the dinner.

A large number of the poultry growers of Greene County are expected to attend this meeting and assist with the construction of the house.

SEE BUDDING WORK

About fifty people attended the budding demonstration which was held at the Farm of S. P. Mallow on the Lower Bellbrook Pike, Wednesday afternoon.

F. H. Beach, Extension Specialist of Ohio State University in Horticulture demonstrated how to bud a yearling tree and also how to prune and care for both apple and peach trees at this meeting.

GIVES SOY BEAN DOPE

One of the questions answered by J. A. Slipper, Extension Specialist at Ohio State University on the soy bean tour which was held last Tuesday was the proper stage to cut soy beans for hay. This stage according to Mr. Slipper is when the pods are forming on the plant and before the seeds begin to swell. At this stage it is easier to cure for hay and the maximum amount of feed can be obtained. Nine farms were visited on the tour and twenty varieties of soy beans inspected and observed which were grown for hay, seed, silage and hogging down.

GIRLS! USE LEMON

TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

LOVE - OR FAME?

By
VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "THE HALF-TIME WIFE"

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit a friend and try to break into the movies. She soon gets started, and through the friendship of LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man, gets an engagement with

JOHN SEWARD, "the great lover of the screen," who falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. However, she cares more for French, but is not sure that he cares for her. She has an unfortunate experience with

EIKHORN, one of the big producers, and decides to go back home and give up her career, when French gets her a part in a picture being made in the country by

CARL BANNING. French follows her to the country and proposes to her. Banning persuades them not to be married at once, and French goes back to New York. The star of the production,

CRYSTAL MAY, does all that she can to make things unpleasant for Dorothy. Crystal refuses to do a dangerous leap, and Banning gives that scene to Dorothy. Dorothy realizes that it will mean a great deal to her career if she does it, and goes through with it, though she is much frightened. Later she learns that Crystal has insisted on having that scene cut out. Dorothy receives word from Lawrence that he is leaving for California as publicity man for a famous actress. She is disconsolate. She returns to New York, expecting to be quite alone there. But Lawrence French meets her at the station. They are married at once. They go with John Seward to a projection room to see the picture which Dorothy made with him.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT.

LVII—TORTURE.

I RECOGNIZED several people among the dozen or more that were gathered there—the man who wrote the story from which John Seward had made his picture, and the director and one or two others.

The camera-man was huddled in a corner, looking as worried as if the whole picture depended on him; he came over and sat with us, and he said that that afternoon he'd been offered eight hundred dollars a week to "turn the crank" on a picture that a woman who'd just been acquitted in a sensational murder trial was going to make. She had lots of money behind her, but he had refused to have anything to do with it. I couldn't help wishing that more people who are concerned in the making of pictures felt as he did about such things.

When they turned out the lights Larry reached over and took my hand, and I slumped down in my chair contentedly. I had begun to realize that I was pretty tired, after the long train journey and the excitement of getting married and all that. But just the realization that I had Larry to take care of me made me feel more rested, as if I'd dumped the weight of all my fatigue on his shoulders.

And then, as I sat there thinking of him and the home we'd have and a lot of things like that, something happened that made my heart bounce up into my throat, and hot and cold shivers ran all over me. I wanted to jump from my chair and shriek, and I wanted to crawl under it and hide at the same moment.

For there I was on the screen! I'd seen myself before, of course, but just in very little parts, with a lot of people. This first shot in this picture, I realized afterward, had been taken when I didn't know that it was. I remembered that I'd been standing over at one side of the set one day, talking to Larry, and he'd told me of a wonderful place he knew of, where he and Sylvia and a man he knew and I could go Sunday afternoon. And I could recall how pleased and excited I was about it, because it was the first time he'd asked me to go anywhere like that, and I'd suddenly realized that he liked me very much.

They had been wheeling the camera around a lot, adjusting it for a close-up of Jack Seward, and I hadn't paid any attention to what they were doing. But Mr. Seward had called Larry, and I had turned around to answer something he said to me as he went—and that was when they took the shot of me that they showed first.

"What a beautifully radiant face!" a woman exclaimed somewhere near me. In the darkness I couldn't see her, but later I learned that she was a critic on one of the newspapers.

"Wonderful, dear!" Larry whispered to me at the same moment, but he turned and looked at me curiously.

You see, that first shot was supposed to be when I was looking at the hero, John Seward. I was playing the role of a girl who was in love with an older man, and he didn't know it till the end of the picture.
